The Andre Monument Blown up by Dynamite.

LARGE PURCHASE OF RAILROADS IN THE NORTHWEST.

Two of the James Gang of Train Robbers Turn State's Evidence.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

COLUMBIA, S. C. March 30.—The state democratic executive committee has been considering since yesterday politics matters generally, and election prosecutions particularly, and has issued an address to the democratic party of South Carolina. The address declares, deep to the peace and quiet which have prevailed, despite the existence of a state government ready to punish disorder, repress crime and protect citizens, federal officers have seen fit to drag out people from their homes and arraign them, not only before federal courts, but before the bar of public opinion. The recent letter of Attorney-General Brewster to Sanders is an indictment of the democratic party of South Carolina. To this the democratic party must answer. Its chosen representatives, through whose persons it is sought to perpetrate this outrage, must be defended with all possible force and energy. The democratic party's duty, in view of these facts, is too plain to be misunderstood. When the hand of the assassin struck down the president of the United States it dealt a blow under which the people of the south are yet staggering. The change of policy toward the south as unmistakably indicated within the last few weeks should warn all lovers of good government to be vigilant. The decree has gone forth that while the people of South Carolina must avow the principles of the republican party or be declared criminals, the object of those in authority is not to punish for alleged crimes in the past, but make adherence to the principles of the democratic party impossible in the future. The time for this action will be duly chosen on the eve of the state election. Our people are told they must submit to radical rule or bear the persecution of officials aided by all the power of the general government. The time has come for an indignant people to rise in their might and protest against this unwarrantable invasion of rights. If we fail in our duty, our civilization will be lost, and a foe and stranger will again rule South Carolina. The oppression and tyranny which marked the history of republican rule in this state will again disgrace our civilization and bring disaster upon our people. In this situation of affairs no true son of the state can doubt as to his duty. Let us stand together as one man, and while confronting the common enemy, preserve for ourselves and posterity the justice peace and security which under democratic rule, all classes of our citizens have enjoyed since the grand revolution of 1876. They, whose only offense is fidelity to the welfare of the state, must not be permitted to suffer as criminals.

The Ill-fated Golden City.

MEMPHIS, March 30.—Following is a corrected list of those lost by the burning of the Golden City: Dr. Hobaliart and wife of Jackson, Ohio; Mrs. Carey of Fairmount, near Cincinnati; Miss Luetta Carey of Morton place, near Cincinnati; W. H. Stowe and wife, Ollie Wood and wife of Henderson, Ky.; Miss Anna Smith of Massachusetts; Mrs. Helen Percival of Hayesville, Ky.; Mrs. L. E. Kountz and 3 children, Miss Campbell, a relative of Mrs. Kountz, Robert Kelley, 2d engineer; Mary Boyd and Amanda Madison, chambermaids; J. C. Crone, owner of the sideshow to Stowe's circus; three of the deck crew, [illegible] and a negro boy, servant of W. W. Stowe. Capt. McIntyre was asleep at the time the fire originated, but heard the alarm and came down stairs. He tried to get in the cabin, but fire and smoke drove him back. Descending to the deck he and the second mate, Jno. Hill, made the burning boat fast to a coal fleet and then aided passengers in getting off the steamer. He was calm and did every thing in his power to save everybody, but all efforts proved fruitless, as the line which held the boat either burned or unloosened itself some way, and the boat began drifting out into the stream. John Trewallis, business agent of Stowe's circus, was on the lower deck, and seeing Mr. A. Butler of Donaldsonville, La., with his wife, and four children on the boiler deck, and shouted to him to throw him his children. Mr. Butler tossed him two, which Trewallige caught and carried to a place of safety. He then assisted Mrs. Butler with an infant down from the upper deck and helped her off the steamer, while Butler brought down with him his remaining child.

W. C. McKinley, a young man 17 years old, gives a graphic description of the fire. He was in his stateroom when the first cry of fire was heard. He says it was not three minutes after before he saw the flames coming up through the floor of his stateroom. He ran back in the ladies' cabin, where his grandmother, Mrs Percival, and his aunt, Miss Ionia Mattison, were. Bursting into their stateroom, he found them both standing up, and telling them to come on he grasped his aunt by the arm and led the way through blinding smoke to the front part of the boat. They had not gone far before the flames came bursting through the floor of the cabin. He kept pressing forward, and finally reached the front part of the steamer with his aunt. His grandmother was nowhere to be seen. She had evidently been suffocated by the blinding smoke. He half carried and dragged his aunt down the steps, and just in time reached the coal barge, as the vessel was carried down stream by the current.

An inquest is in progress over the remains of the body found to-day near the wreck. It is thought to be Mrs. Anna Smith of Massachusetts. Frank Smith (colored), captain of the watch, was sent to jail this afternoon on a warrant charging him with murder through his carelessness in causing the fire in the steamer. A diver will try to-morrow to recover bodies that are supposed to be in the wreck of the ill-fated vessel. The Louisville and Evansville steamer and Capt. Bob Wise of the J. W. Goff have offered to convey the passengers and crew of the Golden City to Cincinnati free of charge. Some left for home this afternoon and others leave to-night.

Unable to Reach the Wreck.

MEMPHIS, March 31.—The steamer Fulton, which carried Capt. McIntyre and party to the wrecked Golden City, has just returned. A diver went down [illegible]. The wreck lies in twenty-[illegible] of water, half up stream, and the current [illegible] all efforts to go through the cabin by diver [illegible]. No other dead bodies have been recovered since the one found yesterday, which has been identified as Mrs. Anna Smith of Springfield, Mass., who had been visiting relatives in New Orleans. Her remains are not yet interred, awaiting instructions from relatives or friends. If nothing is heard from them by to-morrow, a committee of citizens will have her buried in Elmwood cemetery. Many passengers and the crew of the Golden City left last night and this morning for their northern homes. Some others will go to-night on the J. W. Goff.

A Terrible Assassination.

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—News of a terrible assassination has been received on the Lake Terry road [illegible] Antonio, Jefferson county, about 30 miles from here. The residence and general store of Joseph Yergot, postmaster and one of the oldest and wealthiest citizens of the county, was fired by an incendiary on Thursday night, and when the family rushed from the burning building, the assassins hidden in a shed across the road, fired a shotgun at Yergot. Riddled with buckshot he fell bleeding and died in a few minutes. About a dozen villagers were present when the crime was committed, but the affair was so unexpected that no attempt was made to arrest the assassin. Deceased besides being a store keeper and mill owner, had done business in loaning money, and some think his harshness in this respect caused his death. Suspicion points to a man named Tresslin, who, a year ago, purchased a team [illegible] giving a mortgage upon them. He run the animals away to Dallas, where Yergot had him arrested. He was brought back and sentenced to six months in jail at Hillsboro. While confined, he frequently declared his intention of killing Yergot. He was released about two months ago. Yergot had been a resident of the county 35 years. He leaves a wife and five children. A reward of $2000 is offered for the capture of his assassin.

Dick Little's Confession.

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—Dick Little's confession is said to include all names of participants in the Gad's Hill, Cottonville, Glendale and Blue Cut train robberies, and in fact to be a complete exposé of all transactions of the James gang since his connection with it. It was on his statements that Clarence Hite was recently arrested in Kentucky, brought to Gallatin, Mo., and there sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary for participation in the Winston train robbery, in which Conductor Westfall was killed. Little said he had been concealed in this city since his surrender, but nothing definite can be learned about it. It is expected he will testify in the case of Bugler, at Independence to-morrow, when further facts will be brought out.

Dick Little's Reward.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., March 31.—Dick Little, the train robber, surrendered to the authorities under the following conditions: He was to receive immunity from punishment by the governor, to be paid $1000 cash upon giving himself up, and $3000 more in event of the five train robbers at large being captured through his instrumentality. Little has already received $4,000, being part of the $5000 paid police commissioner Craig. Should the capture of Little's pals be effected Craig and Gov. Crittenden, between whom the plan was evolved, will receive in the neighborhood of $200,000, the aggregate amount of reward offered, minus the $5000 to be paid Little.

Railroad Transfers.

MILWAUKEE, March 31.—A special notes the fact that within 30 days the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad has absorbed four different roads, the Hastings & Stillwater, the Illinois & Wisconsin, the Janesville, Rockford & Beloit and the Iowa & Eastern. All the transfers were made so quietly as to escape attention. The aggregate value of the four roads is over $2,000,000, making the St. Paul by long odds the most extensive system of any of the railroads in the country.

Frozen to Death.

CHICAGO, March 31.—Watertown, Dakota, special: F. Howe, an old settler of this county, left for Castlewood with a soldier just as a storm was coming on, but its blinding fury stopped them half way to Wah Bah. They tried to make the trip on horseback and became separated. The soldier has been found so badly frozen that his life cannot be saved, and Mr. Howe was found half a mile from home dead.

The Andre Monument Blown up.

NEW YORK, March 31.—At 11:30 last night the Andre monument was partially destroyed by dynamite. The monument itself was not damaged to any great extent, but the base was completely ruined.

Another Account.

TARRYTOWN, Mass., March 31.—The Andre monument at midnight last night was partially destroyed by dynamite. Since the attempt to destroy the monument on Washington's birthday, by George Hendrix, now a refugee from legal pursuit, the monument has been carefully guarded. It is a mystery how the perpetrators succeeded in lodging their explosive, as they had to act quickly. Dynamite was placed on the ground beside the base and there exploded. The report was heard a great distance and all watchers promptly hastened to the spot. The base was found completely shattered, the shaft left standing lopsided on three stones and [illegible] damaged. The persons who made the attempt disappeared and no traces are yet found.

Cattle Thieves Lynched.

PUEBLO, Col., March 31.—A little after 12 o'clock last night a body of men took W. T. Phebus and McGraw, two cattle thieves, from jail and hung them to a tree near by. The perpetrators are unknown, but are believed to be members of the Cattle Growers' protective association. The proceedings were conducted so quietly that the fact was not known until a late hour this morning.

Row in the New Jersey Legislature.

TRENTON, March 31.—The assembly was broken up amid a scene of the wildest disorder. The clerk was not permitted to read the report on bribery charges, members shouting, hissing and talking against time until noon. When final adjournment was made no action was had on the governor's veto of the bill giving Jersey City front to the railroad.

Speculation did It.

TROY, N. Y., March 31.—Col. A. P. Corse, chief of artillery of the National Guard, and manager of a prominent stove firm, has left the city, leaving notes to the amount of some $60,000, said to be forgeries. Speculation was the cause.

A New Crank.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., March 30.—P. M. Morrison, formerly an Episcopal pastor here, has preferred charges to the bishop against Joel Clarke, the present pastor, for using a magic lantern in church Sunday evening to illustrate his sermon.

Stages Robbed.

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—Stages bound both east and west on the El Paso, Texas line, were robbed yesterday about 60 miles from San Antonio, by two men, supposed to have escaped from Bandera jail a few days ago.

Search for the Dead.

MEMPHIS, March 31.—Capt. S. C. McIntyre of the ill fated steamer Golden City, left this morning with 30 men for the wreck. A diver accompanied the party and search will be made for dead bodies supposed to be in the cabin of the sunken vessel.

War on the President.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The Tribune keeps up its warfare on the president by showing that the recent nominations were merely displacements of capable, honest officers by those who were simply known as Grant men.

The Vacant Frames Occupied.

An Untruthful Story.

NATCHEZ, March 31.—The report is untrue of the loss of Ralston's gin house and 120 lives. Stock continues to arrive and the river is falling.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Commons Proceedings.

LONDON, March 31.—Gladstone, in closing debate last evening, denied emphatically that cloture was intended to prepare the way for coercion. It was crime, not cloture, that made coercion possible. The government only asked the house, by passing the amendment, to shut the door against a principle which will defeat individual folly and the darker designs of those who would stand between the house and the discharge of its duties. Northcote, in the course of a speech, commented favorably on the other rules. John Bright, like Gladstone, commented severely on the designs of the Irish, which he illustrated by quoting proceedings of the Chicago convention. Gladstone, replying to the question this evening, said the government had no change to announce in the cloture resolution. He would introduce the budget on the 24th of April.

Arthur Herbert, an active land leaguer, was shot dead while returning from Castle Island petty sessions to-day.

State warrants are out against six members of parliament. Consequently they will not visit Ireland during recess.

Went with the Crowd.

LONDON, March 31.—Patrick J. Smyth, member for Tipperary, and fourteen moderate home rulers, voted with the majority in the division in the house last night.

To Receive Careful Attention.

LONDON, March 31.—The solicitor of Dr. Lamson has received notification that the memorials in his client's behalf will have the careful attention of the home secretary.

Opposed to the Franco-Spanish Treaty.

BARCELONA, March 30.—Strikers have burned the sentry boxes of the Octroi guard. Catalan operatives informed the committee of the chamber of deputies that the adoption of the Franco-Spanish treaty would deprive 100,000 workmen of means of subsistence. Shops and manufactories are closing in Gerona, Sabadell and Tarras. A state of siege is threatened in Catalonia if agitation continues. In the chamber of deputies the minister of France declared he accepted some responsibility for financial proposals and would resign if they were rejected. The majority of the chamber of deputies favors the Franco-Spanish treaty.

A mob in Barcelona attempted to stop a train, and some one fired a revolver. The military answered with a volley, and the crowd scattered.

Barcelona's Disorder.

BARCELONA, March 31.—Almost all shops and manufactories here are now closed. During the disorder, cries of "Long live the federal republic" were raised.

MADRID, March 31.—News of the popular demonstration at Barcelona has caused a profound sensation here.

A Satisfactory Appointment.

BERLIN, March 31.—A rumor is current that Count Adlerberg will be appointed Russian vice-chancellor with control of foreign affairs. Beyond doubt the appointment would have a reassuring effect on Germany.

The Czar's Desire.

VIENNA, March 31.—The Russian minister resident at Cettinje, who is an anti-Austrian, has received a protracted leave of absence. At a meeting at Sofia, composed mostly of Russian officers in the Bulgarian service, the Russian diplomatic agent declared it was the express wish of the czar that none of his subjects should aid Herzegovinian subjects by word or deed.

Sentences of Nihilists Commuted.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 31.—It is officially announced that the czar, has ordered commutation of all death sentences passed at the recent trial of nihilists to indefinite hard labor in the mines, except in the case of the marine, Lieut. Suchanoff, in which it is confirmed, as his position as an officer aggravated the crime. He is, however, granted military execution, which takes place to-day.

Russian Newspaper Comments.

The Golos says the police are preparing for further expulsions of Jews from Moscow.

The Novoe Vremya says the idea is mooted of compulsory naturalization of all foreigners who have been residents of Russia over five years.

Gen. Streltnikof Assassinated.

ODESSA, March 31.—Gen. Streltnikof, public prosecutor of the Kieff military tribunal, was shot through the head and instantly killed while sitting on the boulevard here to-day. Two assassins, who were stopped while fleeing from the scene in a carriage, offered violent resistance with their revolvers and poignards, and wounded three persons, but were finally overpowered and conveyed to the police station. Gen. Streltnikof came to Odessa to conduct preliminary examinations in important political trials.

GRATEFUL WOMEN.

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all readily removed by these Bitters.—Courant.

Emigration to Manitoba.

When the calf curls his tail majestically over his back and gives his head a "pull-back" position, and starts off at a speed that makes chain lightning look sick, now and then letting a heel fly out—giving a kick at some imaginary burglar—you may know that calf is all right, and does not need Sloan's Condition Powders for horses and cattle. Moral—When you want your horses and cattle to feel like this calf, feed them Sloan's Condition Powders.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Action on the Chinese Bill Postponed Until Monday.

THE PRESIDENT'S INTENTION A MATTER OF SPECULATION.

Argument on the Star Route Cases again Commenced.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, March 30.—R. T. Merrick has qualified as special attorney for the government in the star route cases. Col. Bliss says that the appointment of so pronounced and distinguished a democrat as Merrick was intended to enforce the statement of Attorney General Brewster that there should be no politics in the prosecution in the future.

Arthur's Independence.

To a congressman, who persistently urged the appointment of a postmaster, the president said: Whatever may be your feelings in this matter, you must remember I have the appointment to make, and the responsibility is with me. I cannot concede to members of congress the absolute right to dictate appointments in their districts. It is apparently the ambition of every member of congress to be deputy president in his region. I do not intend to be dictated to in future. I am willing to take representations of members of congress as I would those of any other reputable leading citizen, but I do not intend to be guided arbitrarily by the demand of members of congress in making appointments. To other members of congress, who have called within the last two or three days to ask for appointments in departments, the president has said: I will not consider any such applications. You must go to members of the cabinet for this sort of thing.

Senator Logan's Illness.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Logan's illness is more severe than has been reported. His condition is regarded with apprehension by his friends and it is feared he will not be able to remain in Washington through the session.

Senator Teller Owns Up.

CHICAGO, March 31.—The Times' Washington special says: The postmaster at Leadville arrived here to-day. He was appointed through Teller's influence and is a personal friend of the latter. He called on Teller and asked him point blank, "Are you going into the cabinet as secretary of the interior?"

"I am," was the reply.

"Is it a sure go?"

"Yes; I have been offered the place and have accepted."

"When will you be nominated?"

"The president says he will send in my name Monday or Tuesday."

Another Report.

Journal's Washington special: One who has all along insisted the president would veto the Chinese bill says to-day the indications are now it will be signed. Attorney General Brewster is said to be opposed to the veto. The matter will doubtless be settled at the cabinet meeting this afternoon.

The positive statement made by Representative Page yesterday and telegraphed in last night's dispatches to the effect that the Chinese bill was certain to receive the president's approval, was based upon some remarks made to him by the president several days ago, and not upon an interview yesterday morning, as was understood to have been the case. Rumors of the impending veto became so prevalent and positive to-day that Page and Senator Jones, of Nevada, concluded they would see the president on the subject again, and accordingly went to the White House this afternoon and had a long talk with him, in the course of which they urged upon his consideration all arguments in favor of his signing the bill that could possibly be presented from every point of view. They found, as they expected, that in the enormous pressure which has been brought to bear on him by prominent senators and representatives and several cabinet officers opposed to the bill, and a multiplicity of outside influences coming from railroad and steamship companies, from eastern commercial interests and from religious and so-called humanitarian organizations all over the country, that he was prejudiced against the bill.

The Hampton-Sherman Controversy.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Some excitement has been created, especially in senatorial circles, by publication in the Post of to-day of articles in relation to personal differences between Senators Sherman and Hampton. The Post articles allege that an employe of the treasury named Kirk was author of the letter published in a Charleston paper over a year ago, making grave accusations against the character of Senator Hampton; that when Hampton came here at the meeting of congress he began an investigation of this publication and found that Kirk had written a letter by direction of Secretary Sherman, and said he had a letter from Sherman virtually directing him to make the attack on Hampton. A western associated press reporter this afternoon asked Secretary Sherman if he had anything to say about the matter. He replied he had not; that he could only express the contempt he felt for it. He said he did not hold Senator Hampton responsible for the publication in the Post. If he was he had put himself in a very ridiculous attitude. The Post article says Kirk had refused to give a copy of the letter he claimed to have from Sherman. Senator Sherman said this morning that if anybody wanted copies of any letters he had written they were welcome to them and could get copies without any difficulty. Senator Hampton said he did not know how it got into print.

Rosecrans Explains.

Gen. Rosecrans says in regard to the published statement of Gen. Steedman concerning Stanton's conversation with him, it goes to show the secretary had no scruples about uttering calumnies to ruin him in the estimation of the noble and patriotic Gov. Morton and the brave and patriotic Steedman. He is glad to learn that Gen. Steedman can testify that the secretary showed him at the war department a dispatch purporting to come from General Rosecrans as follows:

> "CHATTANOOGA Tenn., Sept. 20, 4 P. M.
> To the Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War: My army has been whipped and routed.
> W. S. ROSECRANS, Maj. Gen. Comd'g."

Because it established beyond peradventure that the secretary to carry out his purpose was capable of forging or procuring a forgery or using a forged dispatch, Gen. Rosecrans says whether on record in the war department or out of it, the dispatch is an unqualified and absolute forgery. No such dispatch was ever sent by him, or ever heard of before by him. Stanton selected as the scene of cowardice, which he charges, the battle of Iuka. This was the most unfortunate one he could have chosen to lie about, as it happened in that battle he found it best to ride in front of his front line the full length of Hamilton's division, exposed to the fire of musketry and grape shot from the lines of the enemy. Moreover he was riding a white horse.

Ingersoll's Argument.

Ingersoll this morning began his argument for defendants in the star route cases on a motion to quash indictment. The motion, he said, was made for the reason that the indictment was not found in accordance with the law, holding that the statutes of Maryland of 1772 is still in force in the District of Columbia, and under this statute Col. Ingersoll held that the grand jury must either find an indictment of their own knowledge on or after presentment by order of court in this case. He claimed the grand jury had no jurisdiction. Judge Wylie said the whole thing hinges on the question whether the law of 1772 is still in force in the district. If it is, then a motion to quash must be sustained. Col. Ingersoll then continued his argument to show the law spoken of is still in force.

The Cochet Claim Worthless.

At a meeting of the house committee on foreign affairs; Chairman Williams said he had just received the following communication from Minister Hurlbut in regard to the Cochet claim: "Minister Hurlbut has written a letter to the chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs showing the shallowness of the Cochet claims upon which the Peruvian company is founded. Cochet was a Frenchman, and his son, through whom the company claims title, was illegitimate, and Cochet himself, during his life time, never made any such claim."

Grant as a Financier.

During the recent visit of Gen. Grant here he submitted to Secretary Folger a financial proposition. He desired him to consider it and submit it to congress. In substance it is to provide for issuing a two per cent. certificate to be exchangable at any time for two per cent. bonds and be available for bank reserves instead of legal tenders. There are other features to the proposed legislation, but the main features were as heretofore given. Senator Miller does not regard this financial measure with favor.

More Food for the Hungry.

The senate this afternoon passed the house resolution appropriating another $100,000 for the relief of sufferers from floods in the south and west.

Reported Back Favorably.

The senate committee on territories, by a party vote of four republicans against two democrats, decided to report back the bill for admission of Dakota with renewed recommendations for passage.

Temperance Arguments.

The senate committee on education and labor this morning heard arguments by Powell, secretary of the National Temperance society, and Mrs. Forster, against Logan's bill to apply the proceeds of the whisky tax to public school purposes.

Washington Notes.

The Garfield five cent postage stamp will be issued April 10th.

In the bill of exceptions in the Guiteau case, the exceptions are to non-admission of certain evidence and rulings of the judge on points of law, and will when completed fill two quarto volumes of about one thousand pages each. The district attorney intends to present a bill for hearing April 24th, the first day of next term.

The Star Route Cases.

CHICAGO, March 31.—The Journal's Washington special says: Hearing the motion to quash the star route cases attracted much attention to-day. The prosecution was represented by Attorney General Brewster, District Attorney Corkhill, Geo. Bliss, R. T. Merrick and Mr. Ker of Philadelphia, who drew the indictments. Col. Ingersoll represents Dorsey, and ex-Congressman Shellabarger and Jeff Chandler are for Brady. The principal grounds on which is asked the quashing of indictments [illegible]

First: That no crime is stated.

Second—That courts cannot supervise a purely executive act [illegible] by the executive department of government.

Third: That law requires the postmaster general [illegible] all the reasons which [illegible] the [illegible] service of congress, which he did, [illegible] approved by congress, which had approval of [illegible]

Fourth: The postmaster general and the second assistant, performed the acts complained of.

If the indictments are overruled for either of these reasons given there is an end to the cases.

Action on the Chinese Bill Postponed.

The cabinet meeting to-day was devoted chiefly to the consideration and discussion of the Chinese immigration bill. It is understood no conclusion was reached with regard to it, and that the subject will be again considered at cabinet meeting Monday. There is much speculation to-night as to the president's attitude toward this bill, but nothing is positively known with regard to his intention. California senators and representatives, some of whom had interviews with the president, seem more confident to-night than they did last night that the bill will be signed.

A Veto Probable.

The drift of outside opinion to-night seems to be in the direction of a veto, and in support of this it is maintained that in view of the president's reticence to friends of the bill, and even his most intimate friends, their expectations of approval must be founded to a certain extent on his consideration.

To be Surveyed.

The commissioner of the general land office, by direction of the secretary of the interior, has ordered execution of the survey of the public lands of San Francisco, in compliance with Secretary Schurz' decision of March 3, 1881.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 31.

McMillen reported from the District of Columbia committee a bill to incorporate the Garfield memorial hospital.

Consideration of the Indian appropriation bill was proceeded with. The pending amendment offered by Hoar as a substitute for the committee amendment appropriating $47,000 for the education of Indian children at schools at other than those provided in the bill was temporarily withdrawn and the latter adopted.

Mr. Hoar then submitted a modification of the proposition for the education of Indian children generally, so as to provide for an appropriation of $5,000,000 instead of $2,000,000.

Debate was interrupted on motion of Allison, that the house resolution granting the use of the rotunda for a reception in aid of the Garfield memorial hospital on the first Saturday in May be concurred in.

Debate on the Indian bill proceeded and Hoar accepted the modification suggested by Windom, fixing the appropriation at $250,000.

The amendment as modified passed—yeas 29, nays 18.

The amendment as adopted is as follows:

The secretary of the interior is further authorized and directed to provide for the care, support and education of all Indian children dwelling west of the Mississippi and not belonging to the five civilized tribes in the Indian territory, or so many thereof as may be practicable under such regulation as may be approved by the president in any states or territories, at a cost not exceeding $100 per annum for each child, and for this purpose there is appropriated $250,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary.

The amendment made by Hale, appropriating $10,000 to continue the Indian commission, was lost. As amended by the committee it reduces the house appropriation for expenses of the commission from $50,000 to $47,000, and provides that hereafter the commission shall only have power to visit and inspect agencies and other branches and shall consult with the commissioner of Indian affairs in the purchase of supplies, and in connection with him shall inspect all goods purchased and shall report their doings to the secretary of interior. The bill was reported from the committee of the whole and passed. Senate adjourned till Monday.

House.

Butterworth then concluded his explanation of the bill which appropriates $27,406,098, being $718,298 in excess of the appropriation for the current years. A long debate was brought to a close by the committee rising, and the house adjourned till Monday.

Before Butterworth concluded the committee rose, and Randall offered resolutions granting the use of the rotunda and adjacent rooms to the Ladies National Aid association for the Garfield memorial hospital, for the first Saturday in May for the purpose of holding a reception, the object being to raise funds for the association. Adopted.

Joint resolution passed appropriating $1,000,000 to enable the secretary of war to issue rations to persons rendered destitute by overflow of the Mississippi river

Committee then resumed session.

Butterworth explained the army appropriation bill. A clause had been added for compulsory retirement of officers over 62 years. He had received information from the war department that the number of officers retired under this provision the next six years would be as follows: in 1882, 42; in 1883, 20; in 1884, 11; in 1885, 11; in 1886, 13; in 1887, 22; in all, 119.

San Francisco Health.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Increase in the mortality rate of this city for the past four months has been so alarming as to cause even the most careless to reflect. In December there were 419 deaths, to 340 in the corresponding month last year; in January 518 to 270; in February 514 to 314; in this month 560 to 351. Thus it will be seen that in the last four months death has carried away 2,041 persons to 1375 for the same period last year, an increase of 666. Last month's increase was exactly 200, and this month no less than 229. Pneumonia, lung, throat and chest diseases and measles have been the main causes. To the state of the sewers and the trying winter the great mortality is mainly attributable.

NICHOL'S STATEMENT.

He Explains the whole Controversy Concerning Grant's Conversation with him.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, March 31.—The Tribune prints the following letter from Thos. M. Nichol:

To the Editor: It would ill become me or any other man of my age and standing, to speak disrespectfully of Gen. Grant, but I believe I am justified by a proper regard for my own reputation, in responding respectfully and briefly to the doubt Gen. Grant has thrown upon the correctness of a version which I recently gave of a conversation between him and myself concerning Gen. Rosecrans.

First. Let it be noticed that there is no question of Gen. Grant's truthfulness raised here. His veracity is not impeached. If I reported him correctly, all that needs to be said is that my visit and the conversation did not sufficiently impress him as to cause him to remember it; but if he correctly reported, my truthfulness is impeached. If he never made the statements imputed to him to me, then I manufactured a conversation with him as a conversation to a Garfield-Rosecrans controversy, and put words falsely into his mouth, which would be an infamous thing to do. I remember my call upon Gen. Grant and our conversation very clearly. It was and is still the only call I ever made upon him, and one of three times that I have ever spoken to him. The call was made at Gen. Garfield's request and I was entrusted with a letter from Garfield to deliver. I remember Garfield's conversation when he gave me the letter at Mentor; and I remember our conversation about the call upon Gen Grant after my return to Mentor; but, the call as has been said, was to me enough of an event to be remembered, and some parts of the conversation were too striking ever to be forgotten. When about ready to send my card to Gen. Grant's room in the Fifth Avenue hotel, I met Gen. Anson G. McCook and asked him to go with me; which he did. He remained in the room but a few moments after introducing me. I handed Grant Garfield's letter which he at once opened and read, and then said "Well, how is Garfield?" I answered that he was quite well. He then asked me how Garfield had stood the campaign. When I answered him he said the democrats had directed their efforts so desperately to break down Garfield's personal character that he was afraid it might have annoyed him; that Garfield was a sensitive man and he supposed would be easily annoyed by such a campaign. I said in answer to this that Garfield had determined early in the campaign not to allow himself to be annoyed by campaign slanders, and that the only matters that seemed to have distressed him at all was the conduct of Hewitt and Rosecrans, whom he regarded as personal friends and gentlemen of character and honor; that their conduct had been a great surprise to Garfield, and that he felt very deeply about it. To this Gen Grant rejoined substantially in the language I gave to the Morning Journal, that Garfield could not speak to or recognize either of these men again without a total sacrifice of his own self respect. He said of the two, Rosecrans was a great deal the worst; that his conduct was infamous, for Garfield had been his best friend, and had stood up for him, defended him, explained and apologized for his blunders, etc. As I before stated he distinctly said that he hoped Garfield had found Rosecrans' true character at last, and would let him (Rosecrans) take care of himself hereafter. He then said that Rosecrans never was fit to have command of any army, that he would lead any army to ruin if it were not protected by the intelligence of subordinate officers and men; that he couldn't obey orders that he was what he (Grant) called a "constitutional insubordinate." He added that he did not mean to say that Rosecrans meant to be disobedient, but he was one of those pig-headed obstinate men who would get an idea into his head and for the time being would be incapable of seeing anything opposed to his own theory; and again repeated that he was a "constitutional insubordinate." He then said that the Morey letter had lost the republicans California, Nevada and New Jersey, and had lost the party not less than 20,000 and perhaps 40,000 votes in New York. He pronounced the publication of that letter the most infamous thing that had ever been done in American politics. He said he did not know just what General Garfield's sentiments were upon the Chinese question, but that he never believed that he had written that letter. He understood that Garfield had voted against the anti-Chinese bill which passed congress, while he (Grant) was out of the country. If he did, he voted right. If he (Grant) had been in congress he would have voted against it, too; and if he had been president would have vetoed it, just as Mr. Hayes did. To this I replied that I knew Garfield's sentiments very well on the Chinese question, and that the Morey letter was entirely inconsistent with them. While I assisted Gen. Garfield with his correspondence and had occasion to answer many letters attending his Chinese question, I told him that I particularly remembered that of all the class of letters that came to Gen. Garfield after his nomination, making suggestions as to what subjects ought to be treated, and how they ought to be treated in his letter of acceptance, more of them were on the Chinese than any other subject.

"Do you say that people wrote Garfield making suggestions about his letter of acceptance?" said General Grant in a surprised sort of manner.

I said, "Why, yes! dozens of them; more than a hundred, I should think."

"That's mighty curious," he said! "I was nominated for president twice and nobody ever made a suggestion to me about my letter of acceptance, and," he continued in a reflective way, "I don't remember anything about my first letter of acceptance. I don't remember when I wrote it or what was in it. The second, I remember it by this: I was up at the capitol when the committee handed me the formal notification of my nomination, and went into—or was in, I am not certain which was the exact expression—one of the committee rooms and got a piece of paper and wrote my acceptance and gave it to them."

This ended the conversation and I took my leave. The latter part of the talk particularly interested me, as I marked the contrast between the two men, Grant and Garfield. Dozens of people wrote freely to Garfield making suggestions and offering advice about his letter of acceptance, but no one took the same liberty with or felt the same interest in Grant. I knew how much thought Garfield had bestowed on his letter of acceptance and how much the country expected of it; while Grant simply went into a committee room got a piece of paper, and wrote his letter accepting the presidential nomination with as little unconcern as he would have answered an invitation to dinner. Of course this, as well as the remarks about the Chinese bill and about Hewitt and Rosecrans, grew naturally out of what was then the universal subject of conversation—the Morey letter. There was nothing strange in the fact that we should talk on that subject and nothing remarkable or unnatural in the turn the conversation took. Indeed it would have been far more remarkable if that subject had not been spoken of under the circumstances than that it was and it is not at all likely that I or anybody would think of fabricating such a story as it is months afterward without any foundation, and it is not at all possible that I would so. I have not done so. The conversation took place just as I stated, and is given with substantial accuracy and with absolutely no misrepresentation. As to the propriety of my originally telling it for publication there may be differences of opinion. As to the propriety of sticking to it, even against Gen. Grant's contradiction, there will be no difference of opinion among men who value their own word and reputation.

SENSIBLE RESOLUTIONS.

There are notes of sound sense from Washington county. We ask attention to the report of a series of meetings held in the southern part of the county, at which the imperfections of our assessment laws have been considered and resolutions adopted looking to proper change thereof. We say proper change, because the resolutions contain the substance of just what is indispensable in this important matter. For years this journal has advocated the doctrine and policy set forth so succinctly in these resolutions. There ought to be no exemption from taxation on account of indebtedness. No attempt should be made to tax credits, and actual property, either real or personal, ought to be taxed at its proper value in whose possession soever it may be found.

There is just now a dearth of "national issues." Those who, like the men of Wapato, are getting tired of "secession" and the "bloody shirt" as live questions, couldn't do better than to conclude that a "state issue" is a proper thing to be considered in a state election. And what is more important than a proper law to regulate assessments for taxes, doing away with the striking evils nurtured by the present system?

The writers of these three short resolutions have compressed a whole great subject into extremely small space. The whole gist of the subject was never more clearly presented. They see how useless it is to try to tax credits, and how unnecessary besides, since all the property that actually exists is of a tangible kind and may always be found, while credits are usually only the elusive shadow of property in some one of its tangible forms. The same reason that makes the attempt to tax credits inadvisable and abortive makes deduction of indebtedness a bad policy; for it merely serves as a cover to concealment of property, places the taxpayer who happens to possess a conscience at a disadvantage and deprives the state of the benefit of a large part of the just valuation of the actual property within it. That the present system tends to "centralization of property, in the form of notes and accounts, in the towns and cities, to the detriment of the rural districts," is an unquestionable fact; and it is true besides that the notes and accounts escape taxation, in spite of all efforts to reach them. But the holders of them, on the possibility that they may be taxed, maintain a high rate of interest; and thus in every way the laws as they now stand aid the lender and broker as against the borrower and against the state.

An immediate consequence of the adoption of a correct policy on this subject would be a marked reduction of the rate of interest and an approach to a just and equal valuation of property for taxation. The man who wanted to borrow money upon a mortgage would get it easily for six per cent., whereas now he is obliged to pay from nine to twelve. Thus by reduction of the rate of interest he would secure an advantage beyond that now obtained through deduction of indebtedness, and the indirect advantage obtainable through a system which would defeat the juggery now employed so successfully by large numbers to evade taxation and throw the burden on others. We commend the Wapato resolutions to those who are looking for a "live issue" for our state election. The state needs nothing so much as a modification of the assessment law on the principles set forth in these resolutions.

WEATHER PREDICTIONS FOR FARMERS.

The bill which proposes to make the Pacific states and territories an independent division of the signal service with a central office and permanent managers at San Francisco, should engage the attention of congress at its present session. While this service grows in practical usefulness in the east almost with every month, it is at a stand-still on the Pacific coast, its work being of little present value. Careful examination of the field has convinced the managers of the signal bureau that the service can be made as useful here as it is now in the east, and further, that without special study and the advantages proposed by the bill before congress, no progress can be made. The system which works so admirably in the east is the development of eastern weather conditions and does not fit the altogether different phenomena west of the Rocky mountains. The chief advantage which will result from efficient service here will accrue to the agricultural community. The grain and cotton growing sections of the south and west are thickly dotted with signal stations, parts of a system which foretells storms and frosts with unvarying certainty. This region is divided into districts of which the local signal stations form the centers, and at 11 o'clock each day bulletins are posted throughout these districts indicating the weather for the succeeding twenty-four hours and giving the probabilities—with only the pretense of approximate accuracy—of the 24 hours next succeeding. Planters have come to trust these daily predictions which very seldom fail. The advantage to farmers of knowledge of the weather in advance needs not to be stated. Even with our present population it would save a million dollars to the Willamette valley annually, and besides, be of daily and hourly convenience. The ground would have to be thoroughly "planted" with stations of course, before the service could be complete. The proposition to make the Pacific coast a special and independent division is a long step toward this result so much to be desired, and it should have the active support of the Pacific coast delegation. In the meantime, the signal service on the coast, while doing all that could be expected, is doing but little—nothing more than recording data which will be useful in the future.

Down in Mexico the administration of postal affairs heretofore has been quite in keeping with the manners and customs of that easy-going land. Outside of the capital, and of a few of the larger cities of the interior, letters have sort of drifted about at their own sweet will. Sometimes they have reached the people to whom they were addressed, but more times they haven't. Unlucky foreigners asking at the postoffices of the interior if any letters have come for them have had their questionings met by the hopeless "Who knows?" And if they have resented this method of dealing with the matter they have been been smiled upon benignly and told that very likely a letter will come for them "in a little while." But under the new dispensation this off-hand manner of administering the mail service will not answer. Now that 330 miles of the National railway and more than a hundred miles of the Central railway are in operation, developing a new and vigorous business life, the old plan of suffering letters to care for themselves must be changed. Already the Yankee leven is at work, and the change for the better is shortly to be made. A dispatch from the City of Mexico states that a government commision has been appointed to organize a new postal system, and to accord with the new state of affairs it is proposed to add a postmaster general to the president's cabinet. Clearly, the good old times are departing. With a government official whose business it is to see that questions are answered, and with railroads running on time, the occupation of those stanch old stand-bys of Mexican speech, "Quien sabe?" and "Poco tiempo," will be gone.

Gen. Sherman, it is said, will recommend that several army posts in the southwest be abandoned, and that the whole military force in that region be massed at Forts Antonio and Bliss. It is understood that a similar concentration will be proposed for this department. The cost of maintaining a regiment garrisoned in half a dozen posts is much greater than at a single post and there is now no necessity for the outside stations. Railroads in operation and to be built this season will afford such easy and speedy transportation from Vancouver barracks throughout the department that its whole force, in case of an emergency, could be moved to the most remote locality within its limits in a week. There is manifestly no necessity for small outside posts except near the Indian reservation in the northeastern part of the department.

Ultra temperance people and a few foolish preachers are protesting against Logan's proposition to apply internal revenue receipts from the liquor traffic to educational purposes. It is a scheme, they say, to use the license money of an iniquitous business which they condemn, and with a consistency which extremists seldom carry into money matters, they will have none of it. They overlook the fact that any law affecting the liquor traffic is restrictive and that a license law is to a certain extent a check upon the business. Certainly if there was no law at all, drinking and drunkenness would be more flagrant than with even the most indulgent license law. It is manifestly unjust to designate as "blood money" a fund whose collection checks and regulates the sale of liquor.

The star route gang are bending all their energies to avoid being brought to trial. Ingersoll, their advocate, pleads against the indictment, alleging that it is not legally valid. Thus a technicality becomes their hope of safety. The gang of rascals and thieves are afraid to go to trial on the merits of the case, and so take the stand on a trumped-up defense. The dispatches explain what it is. Hence the question now is whether these large-handed robberies have not been frustrated under virtual sanction of the law. Should it be held that this is the case another reason will be added to the many heretofore presented for reverence and worship of a legal system constituted in so many of its features for protection of scoundrelism.

The records of the Pennsylvania asylum for insane show that since 1841, of the 8,480 patients received at the asylum 1,577 were rendered insane through ill-health; 828 from intemperance; 287, loss of property; 396, grief; 243, religious excitement; 87, overwork; 510, mental anxiety, and 13 from uncontrolled passion. In addition to these, fright caused mental aberration in 53 cases; metaphysical speculation, 1; engagement in a duel, 1; homesickness, 9; stock speculation, 2; mortified pride, 3; use of opium, 33; use of tobacco, 17; tight lacing, 1; sudden acquisition of wealth, 1. The ages of a majority of the patients when insanity first appeared was between twenty and thirty-five.

There are few persons who will not be inclined to credit the statements of Mr. Thomas M. Nichol as to Gen. Grant's remarks upon Gen. Rosecrans, though Grant has thought fit to make a denial. It is a fact long and well known that Grant is troubled, to put it mildly, with serious infirmity of memory regarding his own statements. Those who judge severely call it a tendency to falsehood; the more charitable, employing a happy euphemism, call it forgetfulness.

The czar having received convincing proofs that his dear people, the nihilists, have repudiated their amiable designs of gathering him to the tomb of his fathers, will extend imperial clemency to all but the more aggravated cases of political criminals. The emperor of all the Russias would like to get his conscience on a peace footing with his subjects.

Teller now counts confidently on getting into the cabinet in place of poor old man Kirkwood who will, it is said, take the Russian mission. Frequent miscarriages have not disheartened Washington gossips, who prattle away as hopefully as if their guesses had never failed.

Congress has voted another hundred thousand dollars for relief of suffering in the flooded districts of the south—money well spent.

Did the legislature by the passage of an act at the same session, entitled "An act defining the rights and fixing the liabilities of married women and the relation between husband and wife," intend to repeal the act just passed by it?

GOOD FOR SORE EYES.
THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT IN JUNE, 1881, I had acute inflammation in my eyes, and in spite of all the surgical aid I received in Oregon my eyes continued to get worse, until at length I became helplessly blind. In August I went to San Francisco and was under the treatment of two oculists of considerable repute. One was a professor of diseases of the eye, and I remained under his care one month, but continuing to get worse I changed to another so-called specialist, to find I was only jumping out of the frying pan into the fire. I next consulted Dr. Pardee, 625 Clay street, San Francisco. His treatment relieved me from the very first and I continued to improve every day, until I could see to read as well as any one. I found his treatment both simple and mild, different from any and all other treatments I had received. My residence is in Astoria, Oregon. I insert this card at my own expense out of pure gratitude to Dr. Pardee and without his knowledge to let any similarly afflicted know where to go to get their eyes cured, as I have been through the mill and speak from a sad experience.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Midnight.—Indications: Pacific coast region generally fair weather.

CITY.

For additional Local News see fourth page.

ANOTHER FACILITIES ACCIDENT.—About 1 o'clock last night a meddling busybody by some means struck the gong in No. 1's engine house several times. The horses were immediately hitched and made a step or two forward, when the steam from the feed pipe began to escape with a great deal of noise, terrifying the horses, rendering them unmanageable by the driver, who had not yet gotten in his place on the engine. The horses turned to the left in the house, and ran against the hose carriage and the driver's bed, making a wreck of the latter. They then collided with the tender, where the tongue was broken to pieces, and by quick work the horses were subdued. Tom Woods, a member of the company, was slightly injured when the horses ran into the hose carriage. Luckily the horses were uninjured. The engine will be drawn by hand until the tongue is repaired. Accidents will happen. Next.

ARRESTS IN MARCH.—The police authorities made the following arrests last month: Drunk and disorderly 142, assault and battery 15, prisoners en route 5, insane 5, disorderly conduct 24, larceny 4, resisting an officer 1, shooting at robins 1, vagrants 8, residing in bawdy house 1, using abusive and obscene language 4, assault with intent to commit mayhem 2, defacing a building 1, threatening to kill 2, larceny by bailee 1, gathering swill against ordinance 4, assault with dangerous weapon 1, burglary 1, held as witnesses 2, riding horse on sidewalk 1, selling liquor without license 2, carrying concealed weapons 1, keeping bawdy house 1, obtaining money under false pretences 1, robbery 3, obstructing sidewalk 1. Total 252.

NEW MILITARY COMPANY.—A number of young men and boys aged between 12 and 18 years, have organized a military company under the name of the "Portland Light Guard." The officers are: Captain, J. Rush Bronson; First Lieut., Charles Sears; Second Lieut., Bert Towne. Other officers will be selected at a future meeting. A number of members of the G. A. R. have taken an interest in this company, and will assist the boys in their drill. The organization is strictly a total abstinence one, including anti-tobacco, and any boy guilty of using vile language will be expelled. Boys between the ages above named of the right stripe, may become members by applying to Capt. Bronson at the Telegram office.

OPEN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—The meeting will be held this evening in the new magnificent hall of the Orchestral Union, in Hardenburg & Mann's new block on the south side of Morrison street, between Third and Fourth. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. J. A. Gray, Dr. J. W. Watts and others. Solo on piano and vocal solo by a leading artist. This being the first meeting in the new hall it promises to be of an interesting character. The public is cordially invited.

TICKETS FOR DELEGATES.—Mr. Al Zieber yesterday made arrangements with Mr. E. P. Rogers, general ticket agent of the O. & C. railroad, by which delegates to the state democratic convention can procure round trip tickets at 60 per cent of the regular fare. The convention will be held Wednesday the 5th inst. Tickets will be good from April 1st to the 7th, inclusive.

THE NONSENSE BEGUN.—At 1 o'clock this morning some alleged joker blew a police whistle in the neighborhood of Front and Ash streets and brought half a dozen policemen down street at a run. A reporter of THE OREGONIAN, who had forgotten the date, tagged along also. Avoid hats and purses and the stereotyped jokes to-day.

ARM BROKEN.—Last night as Miss Rosa Arnold, daughter of ex-Policeman Arnold, was descending the stairs of their residence on Third street near Alder, to the basement, a step broke and Miss Arnold fell ten feet, fracturing her left wrist and sustaining other serious bruises. Dr. Saylor was called and reduced the fracture.

HELD TO ANSWER.—Mrs. Eli Brown, who has been accused of brutally beating Alice Adams, was arraigned for examination in Justice Davis' court yesterday. The most conclusive evidence against her was the child's. The woman was bound over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $300.

PUT UNDER BONDS.—Hank White, Harry Wheelan and Geo. Emmet, who are accused of robbing John Oliver at the U. S. beer hall, were arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon, where they waived examination. There bonds were fixed at $1000 each, which were not furnished.

REPORTED BLAMELESS.—It reported yesterday that Willie Starr, who was accused of implication in attempting to burn the college at Worcester, Mass., had been examined and fully exonerated, and will leave for Portland in charge of Rev. W. C. Chattin in a few days.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.—The committee in charge of this proposed institution are in communication with J. F. Howe, of New Meriden, Conn., and expect from him by the next steamer plans for a building. Mr. Howe was architect of the Ohio state reform school.

SCATTERED HANDBILLS.—Henry Haas, a boy of fourteen was arrested by Policeman Hemline yesterday, for scattering handbills on the sidewalk in violation of the city ordinance. He was released on depositing $5 bail and will have a hearing to-day.

TO RESIGN.—Mr. E. Quackenbush, for the past twelve years cashier of Ladd & Tilton's bank, will soon resign, and devote himself entirely to the interests of Sibson, Church & Co., of which firm he is a member.

ARRIVED.—The Willamette crossed in at 8:30 yesterday morning and left for Portland at 4:30 P. M. She had not reached her dock here when THE OREGONIAN went to press.

A PROTEST FROM SOUTH PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, March 31, 1882.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I notice by this morning's OREGONIAN that all property owners are requested to call at A. H. Johnson's office, or Skidmore's drug store, or Atkinson & Wakefield's office, to sign the petition "for vacation of streets for the union railroad depot," to connect with the bridge across the Willamette at the north end of the city. Let me say that there are many persons owning real estate in Portland who will not sign any petition for such purpose, but who are ready and desirous of signing a remonstrance against any such proceeding, should it become necessary. This thing is not unanimous—it is not nearly unanimous. More than a third of the property owners of this city object to it. Nor can it be made so, unless the railway company interested will give ample assurance and security that the bridge shall not be placed below the north end of Ross island. There are already natural obstructions enough between Portland and the ocean, without adding thereto artificial ones, which a dredger cannot remove. We demand, therefore, an open river to the sea, and FAIR PLAY.

DEATH FROM POISON.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ALBANY, March 31.

A man about 30 years of age arrived here by stage from Corvallis yesterday noon. He spent the evening in saloons and about 9 o'clock started for the river bank, where he was found insensible by the watchman and taken to the calaboose this morning. At 9 o'clock he died from the effects of laudanum, which he had taken just before he was found. From a pocketbook taken from his person by the coroner, Dr. James A. Davis, it appears that he worked in a sawmill for Messrs. Harris & Riley up to March 17th. He was of light complexion, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, with mustache but no beard or whiskers. The name Frank Wilson appears in the pocketbook and is supposed to be his name. No one here knows him. The body will be held for identification till to-morrow.

Most of our readers have undoubtedly heard of the renowned Lola Montes, at one time the favorite of the King of Bavaria, by whom she was presented as a pledge of his love a ring set with a black diamond, of which there are only known to be three in existence, one owned by Hildegard, sister of Leopold the II., King of Bavaria, and wife of Prince Albrecht the II., by the unfortunate Carlotta, wife of the late Emperor Maximillian, of Mexico, and the third is now in the possession of Uncle Myers, to whom it was pledged by a former banker of Grass Valley, who bought it of Lola during her sojourn in Grass Valley twenty-five years ago. Connoisseurs are respectfully invited to inspect this rare gem at 181 First street.

W. SCHEFFLER'S PURE WINES AND BRANDY.

It is universally conceded that Wm. Scheffler's St. Helena (Cal.) Sherry, Port, Amber, Riesling and Claret wines, as also his vacuum distilled pure Grape Brandy are really superior to other manufactures, not excepting that imported, the adulterations and impurities of which is now generally understood. Mr. Scheffler's goods are popularly known all over the Pacific coast. Eight-tenths of all the druggists in California, Oregon and Washington territory have adopted his goods, discarding the imported. Ask your druggist here in Portland, East Portland, or in any town in this northwest, and you will be quite sure to obtain it, as you will at most of the first-class hotels and bars. Mr. Scheffler's Wines and Sanitary Brandy have been steadily growing into favor until they are known well in almost every household as a medicine, if not otherwise. Mr. Scheffler's process of distilling in a vacuum is his own patent process, which relieves his brandy of the fusel oil, making it really pure, sanitary and healthful.

poses an shed over this central world their dim and mysterious light. Others supposed that the central air was rendered self-luminous by compression, and hence the two planets were not required. A certain Capt. Symmes, who lived in the present century, was strongly convinced of the truth of Leslie's theory. He held that near the north pole, whence the polar light emanates, was an enormous opening through which a descent might be made into the hollow sphere, and sent frequent and pressing invitations to A. Von Humboldt and Sir Humphrey Davy to undertake the subterranean expedition.

THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

A tax of $200 has been levied for the benefit of the Union public school.

Three persons, two men and one woman, were baptized in the Umatilla river at Pendleton last Sunday.

Hon. Sam. Hannah, of Union, has sufficiently recovered from a long illness to be able to be out on the street.

John Newberry has purchased in Umatilla and Grant counties, of a cattle firm in the east, 20,000 head of cattle and is still buying.

J. A. Abbott, formerly a resident and stock owner in the southern part of Grant county, died a few weeks since in California, where he has resided for the past two years.

R. C. Whitehead, agent for Frank Bros. at Island City, will offer premiums amounting in value to $100 for the best plowing in a match at the Union county fair grounds, the coming season.

McKenzie & Cavanagh have leased a piece of ground from Mrs. Ladlow, 60x100, in Pendleton, and are now erecting a warehouse, 60x60 feet, which will be used as a salesroom for agricultural implements.

Some parties have staked off claims on the flat adjoining town but belonging to the Umatilla Indian reservation. They have an idea when it is divided off in lots they will stand a better show to make the purchase.

Up to March 21st the snow and cold weather continued in Wallowa valley. On that date the mercury stood at 18 deg. above zero. Stockmen report everything lively on the winter range. A large number of cattle have been sold to be delivered about May 1st.

A Wallowa correspondent says: Ben Davis lay out in the hills intervening between his stock ranch on the Imnaha and his home near Alder, last Friday night. The night was a fearful one, a terrific storm of wind and snow prevailing all through. The snow was so deep his horse could not make the journey with him in a day, forcing him to make the best of his surroundings without wood, shelter or provisions.

The will of the late S. G. French of Union, was opened and read last week, by Rev. Thomas Smith and Mr. Holmes. It leaves $1000 to Wm. Holmes, $3000 to Mrs. Kay, $5000 to the Episcopal church at Cove, to be used for the support of the minister; a span of horses, harness and new buggy to Rev. Thos. Smith; the dwelling, improvements and 100 acres of ground at Cove, valued at $25,000, for the purpose of establishing an Episcopal school for young ladies; the balance to be divided equally between his brother, sister and sister-in-law. The estate was valued at about $150,000.

Western Oregon.

Mrs. John Tarpley, of Canemah, died on the 20th ult. of paralysis.

Mrs. Belle Walker, of Forest Grove, is teaching the public school at Amity.

Wm. P. Scott died in Oregon City on the 29th ult. after a long illness, aged about 49 years.

Mrs. Post, wife of C. Post, of Bethel, and daughter of Wm. Frazier, died on the 25th ult. of consumption.

The O. R. & N. Co. have ordered 500 feet of new carbolized hose for the use of the warehouse at Oregon City in case of fire.

Mrs. Dougherty, wife of Joseph Dougherty, died at her home in Yamhill county on the 25th ult. of typhoid fever, aged 36 years.

On the old Pierce place, near the upper Clackamas bridge, C. Hobice, who has had many years experience in the business, has just started a pottery for manufacture of earthenware, drain pipes, &c.

Mrs. C. E. King, wife of John King, of Glad Tidings, Clackamas county, died suddenly at her home on the 26th inst. She was one of the pioneer settlers of that region and leaves a large circle of friends.

A Sublimity, Marion county, correspondent says: The farmers are well along with their spring sowing, considering the bad weather we have had. Fall sowed grain is badly frozen out. Some fields will not be worth cutting.

A. B. Comstock, head miller in the Imperial mills, Oregon City, is quite ill from the accident sustained by being caught in a revolving shaft in the mill some days ago. The wound in his arm has proved more serious than was at first supposed.

E. Baker, of Pleasant Hill, Clackamas county, while cutting kindling wood last week, preparatory to starting a fire in his log heap, by some means sent a splinter into his right eye, which entirely destroyed the sight. He has since the accident been very sick.

Enterprise: Hardly a creek exists in Clackamas county but what has large bodies of government land on its banks, waiting for some one to throw a dam across the stream, put up a mill and commence sawing, with the logs necessary to run for years all in sight. No country in the world has as much water power to the square mile as Oregon has and no part of Oregon as much as Clackamas county. The sawmill business is one of our undeveloped industries. It is not necessary to go back into the mountains to find large bodies of available timber, as they are to be found on the creeks and rivers in the midst of settlements. At no distant day these timber lands will be valuable. When cleared of the timber they will be valuable for agricultural purposes, as all the good timber land is blessed with a rich soil; that on the river banks is valuable for meadows, gardens, etc., and that on the uplands for cereals, etc. Those who have exhausted their homestead and pre-emption rights can obtain possession of these lands without residing on them by paying the government price of $2 50 per acre, as also can anyone else who sees fit to invest for either present or future use. These lands can be purchased from the government in quantities not exceeding 160 acres.

Washington Territory.

The Oregon Improvement company's pay-day at Endicott occurs on the 10th of each month.

Mrs. Matlock, wife of Preston H. Matlock, of Palouse bridge, died on the 15th inst., aged 48 years.

The Mill Creek Flume and Manufacturing company, of Walla Walla, has filed in the county auditor's office supplementary articles of incorporation. By these articles the company increases its capital stock from $50,000 to $200,000, divided into 2000 shares at $100 each, and sets forth new objects as follows: "To construct, equip, operate and maintain a railroad with all the necessary and convenient side-tracks, switches, depots, warehouses, buildings and all other proper and necessary appurtenances from some point near Mill creek to the forks of Dry creek, or some convenient point in the vicinity, and to carry freight and passengers over said railroad, as well as the railroad now owned by the company, and to charge and receive pay therefor. To construct, equip, operate and maintain street railroads in the corporate limits of the city of Walla Walla, and in the country adjoining the same, and to obtain all proper licenses therefor, and to carry passengers on said street railroads and charge and receive toll therefor."

THE WAPATO DEPARTURE.

Washington County Independent.

The citizens of Wapato precinct, having become weary of being called upon to help lay the ghost of secession clothed in the ancient and terrible "bloody shirt" while questions of interest and living issues are neglected, have been holding a series of meetings for considering questions that affect them, first among which are the present general laws of taxation as they affect school and road districts and counties. They have been discussed with "charity for all and malice toward none." It is conceded that the present laws offer great opportunities for perjury, which are availed of by persons having from six to ten millions of untaxed property in this state. It is also conceded that the present system tends to centralize property in the form of notes and accounts, in the towns and cities, to the detriment of the rural districts, and it is further conceded, that if the person, who is supposed to have the money represented by the note which he has given for it or for the goods for which he owes, should pay the taxes on the money, lands or goods, instead of the holder of the note or account he would get the money at a lower rate of interest and the goods at a less price; and by that means property would be subject to local taxation in the substance, and an often fruitless chase to find and tax its shadow on paper in some other district or county would be obviated. The following resolutions were proposed and adopted at the last meeting:

Resolved, That the present laws in regard to taxation ought to be so amended that property, either real or personal, shall not be exempted from taxation on account of the indebtedness of the owner thereof.

Resolved, That notes and accounts should not be taxed.

Resolved, That considering some well devised radical change necessary for the well being and future prosperity of our state, we will uphold no candidate for the legislature who does not pledge himself to secure, if possible, the legislation which we ask at the next term of the Oregon legislature.

BAKER COUNTY NEWS.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

BAKER CITY, March 27.

The members of the Episcopal church are raising funds for the purpose of securing the services of Rev. Mr. Parker. They are succeeding beyond their expectations.

The young man Lyon, recently shot by Patterson, was able to dress himself yesterday. Drs. Hulvy and Attwood are deserving of credit for their skill in attending him.

The democratic primaries for the election of delegates to their county convention for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention, came off yesterday. Out of near 400 votes in this precinct, only 70 were cast.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The freight market remains the same as noted in dispatches for the past month, and there is no immediate prospect of improvement further than there is likely to be continuation in shipments of dead weight with corresponding scarcity in light freight, and in consequence ships will continue to depart with much room in them. Rates remain firm, and there is no evidences of any concessions being made, as high prices are being paid for ships and the compact nature of cargoes will not admit of it. Tonnage is very scarce and held at full prices for charter. Overland freights have been quite active but at close there is less doing.

Markets are but moderately active and prices in many instances firm.

Wheat—1¼@1½c higher on winter grades, which are in demand for export. The strength of the market is due to freight of diminishing supplies.

Barley—Quiet.

Provisions—More active.

Lard—10@12½c higher.

Rio Coffee—Quiet and firmer.

Refined Sugars—Active and firm.

Hides—Dull and firm.

Turpentine—Fairly active and higher; in barrels, 52½.

Petroleum—Steady.

Crop Estimates.

The following statement relative to corn and wheat crops of 1880-81 is furnished by the department of agriculture: There are seven states that produce a surplus of corn. These states together yielded 1,046,000,000 bushels in 1880 and 737,003,000 in 1881. On the 20th of March returns of the estimated quantity of corn of last year's crop in the hands of farmers were made from over 400 counties of these states to the department. They represented more than two-thirds of the entire area. The percentage product of each state still on hand is reported as follows: Ohio 24, Indiana 27, Illinois 26, Iowa 28, Missouri 16, Kansas 16, Nebraska 23. The average is nearly 24 per cent., and amounts to 175,000,000 bushels. It is estimated the proportion on hand March 20, 1881, of the larger crop of 1880 was, in Ohio 33 per cent., Indiana 33, Illinois 39, Iowa 46, Missouri 30, Kansas 30, Nebraska 38. Average 37 per cent., or 338,000,000 bushels. The same states produced 256,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1880, and 169,000,000 in 1881. The proportion on hand in March as estimated was: Ohio 25 per cent., Indiana 18, Illinois 19, Iowa 23, Missouri 17, Kansas 15, Nebraska 21. Average 21 per cent., or nearly 35,000,000 bushels. One year ago the proportion remaining of the crop of 1880 was: Ohio 30 per cent., Indiana 28, Illinois 24, Iowa 28, Missouri 28, Kansas 26, Nebraska 20. Average 25 per cent. or 64,000,000 bushels. The result of this investigation indicates a comparative shortage of 213,000,000 bushels, or 55 per cent. less corn on hand than on March 20, 1881. In these seven states, in addition to a shortage of three other surplus wheat states, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, are credited with 76,000,000 bushels as the crop of 1881.

PROFIT, $1200.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness, costing $200 per year, total $1200—all of this expense was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters, taken by my wife. She has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it, for their benefit."—N. E. Farmer.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHŒA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, and death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

The Doctor will agree in writing to forfeit $1,000 for a case that he undertakes and fails to cure.
